LET'S START AT THE VERY BEGINNING

Design process—inspo

I love Klimt and felt like the rich colours from his painting would be a fun inspiration. I also realised I was channeling the night sky with fluoro lights or a starry night as I was doing this. I created some colour schemes out of the painting colours to see what felt like a good starting point.

Take 2! After this morning's presentation on colour palettes and more UI research, I know I need more contrast in the palette. I'd like to do this by adding in a fluoro green and a fluoro pink accent. The night city images and the aurora borealis are what I'd like to replicate.
